So I'm finishing up my story here. I wanted to ask you - is the office planning to raise the constitutional challenge with the first case you see come through?

I wanted to bring up something about this story I'm working on. Would the DA consider raising a constitutional challenge due to the fact that the Felony Murder Rule was originally a voter initiative? And may not be able to be amended by so readily by the legislature? Just a question I thought I'd bring up.
